

Hello, Neighbor; it's some little old state fair we're having this week; what?

THAT little puff of wind this afternoon was just a kick back from a gust of fair boasting.

Boundless Enthusiasm in Throng as Splendid Musical Organization Ends Opening Ceremony with National Anthem.

Although a brief but tempestuous gale raged through the state fair grounds just as the hour set for the formal opening, although clouds lowered and a light rain fell for a short period, the enthusiasm which has brought to Albuquerque the greatest crowd in its history on the opening day of a state fair, sent that crowd pouring through the turnstiles into the state fair grounds shortly before noon today, in the largest first day attendance on record.

The crowd, a happy, laughing, cheering throng of pleasure seekers, laughed at a wind which for a few minutes blew at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and paid no attention to a rain which barely touched the dust. They had come to see the opening of New Mexico's greatest state fair, by New Mexico's chief executive and New Mexico's leading citizens, and thus proposed to see that ceremony in spite of anything the elements might do. A few sabres and salutes from the horizon and a few small tents removed from their foundations served to dampen enthusiasm but a while, and therein is the interesting of the success the complete success of this state fair. Its attendant throngs are here to have a good time, to meet one another and to boast the New Mexico. They are being kept off the fair grounds by the state department from American Consular Agent charracters, following a similar interview with Villa.

London, Oct. 11 (UPI)—The Austria-German armies which crossed the Danube and Save rivers and crossed Belgrade are proceeding to the south of Belgrade, it was officially announced today. The announcement adds that the crossing of the Danube by the invading forces had been completed.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire) London, Oct. 11 (UPI)—Attacks by the Austria-German forces which are invading Serbia are proceeding to the south of Belgrade, it was officially announced today. The announcement adds that the crossing of the Danube by the invading forces had been completed.

Although an armistice embargo will temporarily weaken the resources of the Villa charracter, M. Diaz Lombardo, foreign minister of the convention government, in a formal statement given out here, announces that the struggle will be continued in Mexico. Similar advice has been received by the state department from American Consular Agent charracters, following a similar interview with Villa.

Telegrams from the Madrids though not minimizing the seriousness of the Serbian position reflect a tone of cheerful confidence in the ability of the allies ultimately to check the Austria-German invasion and successfully meet any future attacks from the side of Bulgaria. The national dumet, say these telegrams, has said Berlin as never before, and throughout the country men properly fitted for the regular army and women and old men are arming for the defense of their country.

The governor's opening address was received with boundless enthusiasm, especially when the star spangled banner was joined in a grand opening ceremony with the star spangled banner.

Governor McDonald's opening address was brief, but it was one of the best the executive ever delivered to his division.

Governor however in his division, the governor this afternoon seemed filled with the same state enthusiasm which moved the crowds and tributes of congratulations from his friends the leaders of his state. These feelings were fittingly illustrated in the splendid array of exhibits of science and traits of culture and wealth of men and products and of boys and girls and men and women gathered to make this state fair a success.

The executive was given an ovation when he arose in the governor's box in the grand stand, amid a bright decking of flags and bunting, and his relatives another ovation when the Kitter closed the opening ceremonies with the national anthem. It was truly a nation's day at the state fair. President Pinney, because he is the full shore of the crowd's cordial greeting, and after seeing the opening of the exposition was a trifle more successful than his most optimistic prophet could have claimed in view of weather conditions that to set the lead were unpropitious.

The Opening Parade.

The parade which opened the state fair yesterday was one of the most impressive this city has seen and quite the most elaborate ever staged on an opening day.

The procession left South First street shortly after 1 o'clock and reached the state fair grounds an hour later. Here were seven or eight batteries everywhere repeated effects

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire) Boston, Oct. 11 (UPI)—The government of Bolivia, Uruguay and Paraguay remained to be heard from today in approval of the action of the United States government in deciding to recognize the Carranza government in Mexico.

The other countries which participated in the Pan-American peace conference through their diplomatic representatives—Argentina, Brazil and Chile—already have sanctioned the work of the conference. The approval of the first named government is expected immediately.

The next step to be taken by the United States all is to determine the form by which recognition shall be accorded. It is expected to be extended this week, possibly through formal notification to Elcho Arredondo, Carranza's official agent here. Prohibition of shipment of arms to factions opposed to Carranza government then will follow.

MAESLANA EMBARGO IS ORDERED AT DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 11.—An immediate embargo on shipments of arms and ammunition into Mexico was put into full effect here today and will remain in force beyond indefinitely, said Justice officials from the side of Durango. The national dumet, say these telegrams, has said Berlin as never before, and throughout the country men properly fitted for the regular army and women and old men are arming for the defense of their country.

The population of Maeslana Serbia has gathered into bands with the object of repulsing a possible Bulgarian attack. In addition to summoning soldiers a million volunteers of both sexes and all ages are said to be ready to defend all attacks on American interests.

The progress attending the initiation of the Bulgarian campaign is proving military experts here, but is considered as probably due to the fact that the enemy still required several weeks to complete mobilization when the Russian offensive was sprung upon it.

In the western theater of the war the German attack in the vicinity of Lom appears to have subsided, having accomplished nothing except the securing of a temporary partial foothold in some trenches from which the assailants of the allied line afterwards withdrew.

Since October 4, according to Field Marshal Sir John French, the only change of consequence on the Lom front has been a steady gain of ground by the British between Hill No. 26, which is the key to the situation, and the western theater of the war.

Other reports coming from the Bulgarian front state that an advancement had been made Sunday at 20 miles Ahmadic, forty miles below Janissar by General Brancowitz commanding Mills forces and some 10000 men during the last week to march to the nearest Carranza outposts and another general advance to the south was on the point of result.

These statements were admitted by officials representing in Jaffa.
